[1] Needs Survey for JICA training courses has started!

Recently, the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of Japan and JICA (Japan International Cooperation Agency) have started the Needs Survey for JICA training courses. For the IISEE to accept participants from your country to the 2011-2012 IISEE training courses, which will start on the end of September 2011, it is necessary that your country should select the JICA "Seismology, Earthquake Engineering and Disaster Management Policy" and/or "Tsunami Disaster Mitigation" Courses with high priority. We expect that your institution will request your Government to choose these courses with high priority among JICA training courses in the menu that JICA provide for your country. Therefore, we would like to ask you to encourage your institution to make actions in this direction. Since the deadline of the Needs Survey will be August, your immediate action is highly appreciated. In the case that your government would like to send two or more participants to one course, (for example, 1) your institute wants to send two staff members to the Seismology course, or 2) your institute and another institute in your country want to sent one participant to Seismology Course and one participant to Earthquake Engineering Courses, respectively), your country is requested to obtain two or more positions in the course. We are looking forward to accepting participants from your institution in the near future.
